Griffmen Score Three Runs. It looked like a runaway game for the sationals in the second inning, when the riffmen scored three runs, taking a subtantial lead of three to one on the Sox. Gandil led off with a triple and scored Acosta's double to left. Henry ground-to Scott and Acosta was caught at third. Henry, who took second when Acosta was caught at third, scored on McBride's single off Weaver's glove. Mc-Bride advanced to third on Felsch's error and scored on Moeller's single.

Errors abounded on both sides and helped in the scoring. Blackburne walk-ed in the second, advanced on Schalk's double, and scored on Shanks' wild throw to the plate. Eddie Collins reached second in the third inning on Moel-ler's muff, took third on Jackson's bunt, and scored on Felsch's sacrifice fly. Wolfgang Replaces Scott.

Wolfgang went to the slab for the So in the third inning and Ayers replaced Boehling in the third. Foster's wild throw put Wolfgang on second in the fourth inning and he scored on McBride's fumble of J. Colhns' grounder. Shanks again tied up the game when the doubled in the fifth, advanced on Gandil's scratch hit, and scored on Wolf-
